Why A School Bus Garage?

PRESENT FACILITIES INADEQUATE and UNSATISFACTORY

The only bus storage owned by the school is the former county highway garage located on the alley back of the Gidley Drug Store. For a number of years, this has been too small to house our entire fleet. We formerly rented additional storage space from the Northern Auto Co. At the present time, we are renting additional space from the City — a portion of the Community Building. Renting storage space is never satisfactory because of the lack of control the school has over the space rented.

The present set up, with all of our buses stored on the worst congested alley in the city, makes it anything but convenient to operate our transportation system.

Transportation is a major problem of our school. Six hundred children regularly ride our buses. If the buses cannot operate, the school closes. If buses are irregular or report late, classes are disturbed and the school does not function properly.

The Board thinks that if all busses were housed in a heated building containing a modern workshop, they could be kept in better mechanical condition, schedules could be more closely followed, the safety factor would be greatly improved, and by being more regular, the school in general would function more efficiently.

We have half enough money on hand to erect this eleven bus garage and workshop. On June 13th let's settle this bus storage problem for all time.

Festival Queen To Be Selected From Northern Mich.

There is a good opening in Traverse City for some comely Northwestern Michigan girl and the job offers nice work if you can get it.

The annual search for the prettiest, most graceful and most intelligent girl in this part of Michigan is on and when she is found she will be offered the job as National Cherry Festival Queen for 1949.

In the past 15 years the National Cherry Queen has come from the region outside of Traverse City eight times, from Traverse five times, from St.Ignace once when Barbara Brown, daughter of former Sen. and Mrs. Prentiss Brown, was selected, and once from the Nation's Capitol when Miss Christina Michels, daughter of the Chilean ambassador to the United States was the queen.

So the selection is not cut and dried for any community. Last year's Queen was Vonny Ann Verno of Empire and the final selection is made entirely upon what the candidate has to offer in grace, poise, beauty and intelligence.

This year the Traverse City candidate will be selected on June 20th and the regional contest will be held at the high school auditorium on the night of Friday, June 24, at which time the Queen and her court will be selected.

Community groups throughout this part of Michigan are urged to select candidates for this honor and then inform Nationay Cherry Festival headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce in Traverse City.

It's nice work for any girl who can get it.

Garden Tools Require Care

With gardening season in full swing, Michigan State College specialists advise care in the use of garden tools. Accidents frequently happen from the improper use of these common implements.

Replace split or broken handles, they point out. Carry cutting tools with the blade or points facing down. Pruning is much easier when you use the notch povided in the blade for cutting woody stems.

A word of caution is given concerning other tools. When you set aside the rake, spade or fork, leave them with blades and tines downward.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Thomas of Eveline Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Marie, to Mr. [illegible] VanDeventer, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. VanDeventer, of 15833 Cheyenne, Detroit.

Marie has completed the elementary provisional course at Central Michigan College, Mount Pleasant.

Ellis, vice-president of Delta Sigma Phi, is a Junior at Central Michigan College.

The wedding date has not been set.

List Current Garden Jobs

Home gardeners in central and southern Michigan can use the last week o May and the first of June to put out tomatoes, egg plant, and pepper plants. This advice comes from Jack Rose, of the Michigan State College department of horticulture.

Frosts early in May proved the danger of getting these warm weather crops outdoors too early. Other garden chores that can be done now are planting snap beans and sweet corn as well as setting out transplants. Cucumbers, melons, and squash can be planted anytime until about June 10. Soil should be thoroughly warm before seeds of these crops are planted.

Many gardeners plant lima beans too early in Michigan, Rose believes. This crop should not go into the ground until the first week in June. The new varities Peerless and Triumph, developed by the United States Department of Agr'l, have given excellent results under Michigan conditions. Henderson Bush is the second lima bean choice if the new varities cannot be obtained.

FIND COMBINING TO BE MOST COMMON CUSTOM OPERATION

Combining is one of the most common custom jobs done on Michigan farms, according to B. R. Bookhout and R. W. Christian, Michigan State College agr'l economists, says Walter G. Kirkpatrick, County Agr'l Agent.

Their recently completed study of custom work shows that most combining is done on an acre basis. Many sizes of combines were reported,—from three and one-half to 12 feet in width of cut. Most common rate for combining small grain was $5.00 per acre for all sizes of combines.

Some farmers reported rates on an hourly basis and the rates varied with the size of the combine. For small combines, under four and one-half feet in width, the usual hourly rates was $4.50. With five foot combines, the hourly rates was $5.00. For combines six feet or more in width the charge was $6.00 per hour.

The economists report that the custom rates for combining both soy and field beans were most often on an acre basis. The rates were the same as for small grains — $5.00 per acre. A few special bean combines were reported. The rate for these combines was $6.00 per acre.

Custom rates for combining clover and alfalfa seed were reported several ways. The most common rate was $5.00 per acre or per hour for all sizes of combines. Combining alfalfa and clover seed for a share of the seed was reported by about ten percent of the farmers who combined their crops. The usual share was one-half, but a few reported a one-third share in cases where the yield was especially high. Normally a seed share base is an expensive rate for the farmer to pay.

Chamber of Commerce Meeting This Friday

County M.E.A. Group Watches Allocation Board

The last meeting of Charlevoix County Michigan Education Ass'n met in the dining room of the Hotel Dilworth, Monday evening, May 23rd. A fine dinner was served, after which the annual election of officers was held and other business of the group discussed.

One of the chief items of concern was the current possibility of an upset in the present formula for allocating the 15 mills among the county, schools and townships.

At the first meeting of the County Allocation Board on, Monday, May 8th, the County Board of Supervisors requested that they be allocated 8 mills to carry on the county government for the year 1950. For the past two years, the Allocation Board has 1 mill to the townships. It appears that 9 mills was more than the county needed for operational purposes and a surplus accumulated. At the special election April 4th, the Board of Supervisors submitted to the qualified electors the proposition that two mills be placed in a sinking fund for a period of 3 years, and one mill for the seven years following that, for the purpose of erecting a court house.

In order for the county to get 8 mills for operational purposes and 2 mills for a sinking fund it becomes necessary that either the townships give up their remaining one mill or the schools give up one mill. At this first meeting of the Allocation Board, it looked very much as if the schools would be the ones caught in the squeeze.

It appears that any change in the allocation to schools should be upward, since Charlevoix County is one of the small minority of counties in Michigan supplying only 5 mills and less to school finances. The problem lies in the hands of the six members of the Allocation Board. They are: Kathryn Bergeon, County Commissioner of Schools; Lillis M. Flanders, County Treasurer; Guy C. Conkle, Jr., School Board Member; Howard Stephens, Chairman Finance Committee Board of Supervisors; Ross, Renwick and Rogers, representing the people at large.

Grass Day June 29th

GRASS & LEGUME CROPS HOLD BIG STAKE in STATE'S FUTURE

Grass and legume crops hold a big stake in Michigan's farming future, according to Michigan State College agr'l specialists. That's why, they say, the ten Grass Day demonstration programs were arranged for different areas of Michigan again during June of 1949.

"Not only are grass and legume crops basic to animal nutrition, but they're as important to plant nutrition," stated Dean E. L. Anthony in reference to the state-wide program. He urged Michigan farm people to attend the grass day demonstration program in their region to learn more about growing and utilizing the crops.

Starting June 13, three demonstrations will be held each week throughout the rest of the month, with four scheduled for the last week of the month.

Featured demonstrations will vary in some areas but the general program calls for conducted tours in the morning, a short talk on the importance of grass after lunch and field demonstrations in the afternoon.

The Grass Day demonstrations are being sponsored by the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service assisted by other agencies. Local committies of county agr'l agents and farmers aranged the programs.

June 29 — Cheboygan County, Arnold Ostrander farm, one mile north and one and one-half miles east of Afton. Speaker not yet definite. Demonstrations include: Fertilizer-top dressed alfalfa; nitrogen-fertilized grass sod; fertilized wild white clover bluegrass pasture; simulated fall grazing of alfalfa; and new ladino clover seeding.

Must Obtain New Social Security Cards if Employed in Canning Plant

Women who expect to be employed in canning plants this year should obtain new social security cards if their names have been changed by marriage since their original cards were issued, William E. LaRock, manager of the Traverse City Social Security Administration office, suggested today.

"Each year when the canning season starts, we receive hundreds of urgent requests to issue new social security cards for women who have either lost their old ones or have changed their names," Mr. LaRock said. "It takes from four to eight days to locate the correct number so that we can issue a new card. This causes inconvenience to the employer, so some of the canning plants prefer not to hire workers until they have social security cards, or delay payment of wages."

Mr. LaRock recommended that persons who have lost their social security cards, or who have changed their names, should write or call at the Social Security office in the Masonic Building in Traverse City and apply for their new account number cards well in advance of the time they plan to start working.

Summertime Begins June 21

U-M ASTRONOMER REPORTS SUMMER IS DUE JUNE 21

Arrival of summer is scheduled for 1:03 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, on Tuesday, June 21.

This event will headline the astronomical calendar for the month, according to Dr. Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan. The Milky Way and the planets Saturn, Jupiter, Mercury and Venus will be the objects of interest in the night skies during June.

"The sun has been steadily climbing northward since March 20 and on June 21 will enter the Summer Solstice, the point 23½ degrees north of the equator and the most northerly point reached by the sun," she explains. "Summer is then said to begin and on this date, the nothern hemisphere will have the longest day and shortest night of the year. In this area, the day will be about 15 hours long and night will last about nine hours."

On that day, the sun will rise and set approximately 33 degrees north of the east and west points of the horizon, and the northern hemisphere will receive the most heat in any 24-hour period. This event won't produce the hottest weather of the season since the earth's surface will still be warming up from the winter's cold.

"This warming up process will continue each day until around the first of August when the amount of heat received from the sun and the amount lost by radiation will be equal," Dr. Losh explains. "Our hottest weather should arrive at that time. Thereafter, the amount of heat lost each day will begin to exceed the amount received and the long cooling-off process that will produce our winter weather will begin."

The Milky Way will come into view during the evening hours and be visible throughout the night during June. This broad expanse of light will stretch across the eastern sky from north to south during the early evening and move westward as the hours advance. Dr. Losh says field glasses or a small telescope will show this seemingly confused and hazy stream to be composed of numberless points of light, coming from thousands of suns.

Here are some easy directions to locate the planets visible during June. Locate the nearly quarter moon on June 2 and you'll see Saturn close by. Jupitor will be the brightest object in the southeast sky around midnight at the first of the month and about 10 p. m. at the end of June. Venus will be easily visible in the western sky during the twilight hours. Mercury will be more difficult since it won't be visible in the east until just before sunrise during the last few days of the month.

All For Christ Youth Rally

June 4th is the date for your June Youth Rally. The place is the Bennett Schoolhouse. Time is 8 p. m.

The Lord has been blessing our rallies and the attendance has been very good. It thrilled our hearts last month to have the Young People take part in the program. Each group represented brought a special number of songs. I believe, as these rallies continue, we are going to see the young people taking a more active part.

The speaker this time will be Rev. C. Gleason from Eastport. We are also planning special music.

So again we invite you to come out to "All For Christ" Youth Rally. Come and bring a group from your church and help us make this the greatest rally yet.

FARM FACTS from your County Agricultural Agent

POULTRY GROWERS' TO MEET

All farmers who are raising poultry and who would like to find out more information in regard to selling their broilers through the Charlevoix Cooperative Poultry Processing Plant are invited to attend a special meeting to be held a week from Friday on June 10 at the City Hall in Charlevoix, starting promptly at 8:30 p. m. Many growers have been asking questions relative to plans that are being made for handling both chickens and broliers. The purpose of this meeting is to bring together these growers and the Board of Directors and Management of the processing plant. Mr. Wilson from the Land-O-Lakes Cooperative who sold the 1948 crop of turkeys for the processing plant will be at the meeting.

A very good film on newcastle diseases of poultry will be shown at this meeting.

Poultry growers are being warned that when sick birds are to be transported to Michigan State College for laboratory diagnosis that they do not use parcel post or any other public carrier. Recently some birls that later were found to have newcastle disease were shipped to Lansing in a public carrier. This means that there is a very good chance of young chicks, coming up in the same car, to be infected with newcastle disease. The County Extension Office at Boyne City has a supply of special forms that should be used when these sick birds are brought into Michigan State College. If you are interested in receiving one of these forms, please contact the Extension Office.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN GRASS DAY

The grass day program for Northern Michigan will be held at the Arnold Ostrander farm in Cheboygan. Mr. Ostrander lives one mile north and 1½ miles east of Afton. The program is being arranged by Michigan State College Extension Service and local planning committees.

Grass land farming is a phase of agriculture that has been seriously neglected in our modern farming, with the emphasis on high crop production. A well balanced rotation including both soil building sod crops and grain and row crops will provide the most satisfactory result through a period of years. Other features of the grass day will include demonstration of weed control, gully control, in efficient use of forage. Farm equipment dealers will also bring in new harvesting machinery and other equipment for the visitors inspection. Extension specialists from Michigan State College will be on hand to explain the various demonstrations and to discuss individual management problems with the farmers.

CAN PLANT GLADS UNTIL JULY FIRST

Gladioli may be planted any time until July first, reports C. E. Wildon of the Michigan State College department of horticulture.

For full enjoyment of the blooms, Wildon believes that succession planting should be made at intervals of one to two weeks.

Many gardeners have had poor results from gladioli due to infestation by thrips. However, with the new insecticides available, the home gardener need not hesitate to plant gladioli.

Before planting, Wildon advises dusting the bulbs well with five percent DDT. After the plants reach a reight of one foot, dust once a week with the five percent DDT dust until color shows in the buds. Dusting is best done in the evening.

Recital Well Attended

PUPILS of MRS. HOWARD MOORE IN PROGRAM of MUSIC

Parents and friends gathered at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon to hear the pupils of Mrs. Howard Moore in a piano recital. Solos and duets were played by each one, even to the youngest members of the class, Donelda Scott and Bruce Ogden, each six years of age, who started during their fifth year. It is gratifying to see these youngsters getting such an early start. The older ones on the program showed that hard and consistent work will take them far on the "music road."

Mrs. Moore and Margaret Blossie gave two Duo Piano numbers, one to open the program and one to close it. Margaret's playing reflects her sincereity, dexterity and keen sense of interpretation.

The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of lilacs and made a fitting setting for the program.

Machinery Show To Be Feature of Grass Days

Displays of the latest equipment for the harvesting and handling of forage crops will be a highlight of the statewide Grass Day programs this June.

All major companies have indicated they will participate, reports Arthur J. Bell, extension specialist in agr'l engineering at Michigan State College. The exhibits will be prepared by local implement dealers in the different areas.

All machinery used in seeding, harvesting, and handling forage crops will be shown. These include: balers, forage harvesters, bale loaders, forage wagons, bale elevators, blowers, rakes, mow driers, tractors, grass seeding equipment, and field choppers.

Several companies have reported they will be showing new equipment for the first time. New designs in forage harvesters, rakes, and wagons will be featured.

In 1948 an average of 70 pieces of machinery was displayed at each meeting. This equipment is displayed in the morning and then demonstrated in the field in the afternoon.

Factory representatives will be on hand to discuss their machinery with interested farmers.

There is a power greater than the power of bayonets and that is the power of ideas.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

New Roosevelt Political Dynasty Seen in FDR, Jr.'s Vote Triumph; Clay Urges Accord With Germany

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

ROOSEVELT:

Old Tradition

The old tradition was running true to form: you can't beat a Roosevelt. Young Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., most like his father in looks, charm and smile, won the New York congressional seat left vacant by the death of Sol Bloom. And he won it with the national administration and Tammany allied against him.

FDR worshipers were jubilant. Those who had fought the "champ" throughout his years in the White House professed to see in the election result the creation of a new Rooseveltian political dynasty.

Already the cry of the exultant victors was "on to Albany," New York capital which Franklin D. Roosevelt, four-time President of the United States, used as a springboard to the White House.

Denied the Democratic nomination, young Roosevelt ran on the Liberal and Four Freedoms parties' tickets in a contest which kept Manhattan's west side in an uproar for months. A surprise to many Americans, who did not know such procedure was permissible, Roosevelt does not reside in the district he will represent in congress. It seems that all the while there has been no bar in the law to prevent a candidate from living in one district and representing another.

DESPITE his victory as a standard bearer for two other parties, Roosevelt declared he is still a 100 per cent Democrat.

Campaigning, he visited thousands of voters, turned on the old Roosevelt charm, mingled with the masses in their homes, attended house parties as honor guest, made street corner speeches.

One defeated candidate sounded a familiar note heard so frequently during other Rooseveltian campaigns:

"The formula in this election was a glamorous name and a quarter of a million dollars, and neither of these did we have."

BARKLEY:

No Guards

"I'm a big boy now. And besides, who would want to harm a young man like me anyway."

Thus did Kentucky's Alben W. Barkley, Vice-President of the United States, dismiss the idea of personal guards.

BARKLEY, who will be 72 in November, goes where he wants, when he wants and flatly refuses protection of any sort.

He told newsmen that President Truman had "tried to get me to accept a few secret service men," but was turned down.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and top G-man J. Edgar Hoover also offered to provide bodyguards. But Barkley wanted his freedom. "I like it better that way," he said.

Barkley claims he's just a "common man, nothing fancy." In fact, he gets a kick out of people trying to figure out how to address him.

"I STILL call myself senator," he says, "a habit after 22 years in congress, but the kids call me 'veep.' I like that."

He could also be called Mr. President, since that's how he's referred to in the senate over which he now presides.

RADIO:

Godfrey Tops

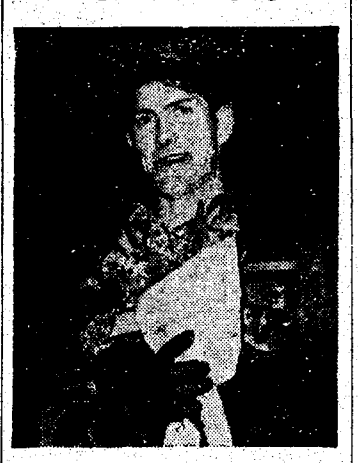

Carrot-thatched, gravel-throated Arthur Godfrey, radio's chief exponent of the "be yourself" type of entertainer-announcer, led the CBS network in earnings during 1948. He was paid $440,514.16 last year by the broadcasting system for which he labors.

Newscasters didn't fare so badly, however. Lowell Thomas was a close second with $420,300. Oddly enough, the network boss, Frank Stanton garnered only a measly $109,798.80. All these figures covered income before Uncle Sam took his cut, so there was some difficulty in trying to ascertain just how much "take home" pay these gentlemen received.

For the ABC network, Don McNeill, emcee of the Breakfast Club, was tops with earnings of $180,229.40.

Paul Whiteman, ABC's musical director and vice-president, received $145,316.56. Again the network president ranked lower. ABC's president Mark Woods got only $75,000.

Last Man Over

Lt. Joe Russo, U.S. army air force, is shown holding a bouquet of flowers presented to him after he landed his airplane at Templehof airdrome to complete the last airlift flight before the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

GERMANY:

Clay Speaks Up

If Gen. Lucius D. Clay, retiring United States military governor in Germany, had his way, America's ex-foes would be permitted back into the company of democratic nations as soon as possible.

BACK in Washington where he was feted and decorated by President Truman, Clay warned that unless Germany is restored to the community of western nations, an alliance with Russia by our former enemies is inevitable.

Speaking to the house of representatives, the general declared that the German people, in spite of their recent history of aggressive war and "extreme cruelty," now had shown their preference for a government standing for the "dignity of man as an individual."

In the spirit of the residents of Berlin who survived through the airlift, Clay declared, there is a spark for German freedom that "may grow with the years." He told the senate how the people of western Germany had adopted through their parliamentary council a constitution which guarantees free elections and is "devoted to reestablishing in Germany the dignity of man."

WITHOUT referring to the Soviets by name, he charged, nevertheless, that the Russians have two objectives that were irreconcilable with the efforts made by the United States, England and France to create a four-power government in Germany based on international cooperation.

He defined these objectives of what he termed "the fourth power" as intent to exact the maximum in reparations from Germany and to set up a government that could be controlled or exploited by a police state.

COMMUNISTS:

Losing Ground

Whatever was responsible—the American airlift, a conviction that American democracy had more to offer or a general revulsion to all police states — the Communists weren't doing so well in the eastern Berlin elections.

THIS was in contrast with the confident predictions of Communistic politicians in the Soviet zone of occupation of an overwhelming majority.

The vote was being taken on a "people's congress" of 2,000 members, all hand-picked by Communist-controlled organizations and put on a single ticket. However, the Communists were picking up only about a third of the votes expected.

Some voters wrote on their ballots "we won't vote for a police state and we reject Communism." Early returns from Berlin showed a majority of "no" votes—the only way the congress could be rejected since only one list of candidates was submitted.

THE "PEOPLES' congress,' if it were to be set up, would be the Soviet answer to the western state being set up in the western zone.

Objective observers couldn't fail to see in the initial trend of the voting an indication that in any case where American system and idealogies may be contrasted with that of the Soviets, the latter cannot command support.

ACCIDENTS:

Three Reasons

Plain stupidity, bad manners, and liquor are the top three causes of automobile accidents, accounting for three-fourths of all fatalities, or over 24,000 deaths per year, according to a case analysis by Northwestern National Life Insurance company.

By far the top killers are the "stupid" group of driver offenses—excessive speed, ignoring traffic signs or traffic officers, passing on hills or curves, and other miscellaneous "dimwit" violations; the study finds that one or more of these offenses is involved in 40 per cent of all fatal accidents, and is the principal cause of 32 per cent.

FOOLISH ACTIONS by adult pedestrians—crossing against traffic signals, crossing intersections diagonally, crossing between intersections, coming from behind parked cars, and walking in the roadway in the same direction as traffic cause another 12 per cent of fatalities, based on experience records of 1946, 1947 and 1948, the study finds. Thus 44 per cent of our annual traffic death toll results from failures by drivers or pedestrians to use common sense.

Bad manners, such as road hogging—driving over the center line or actually on the wrong side of the road, and "barging through" when the other fellow has the right-of-way cause another 15 per cent of traffic fatalities, the records reveal.

TRAFFIC DEATHS due to alcohol are estimated by the insurance statisticians at a minimum of 15 per cent—12 per cent due to drinking by drivers and 3 per cent due to drinking by pedestrians. This is the most difficult group of cases to measure accurately, the study points out, because: Many drinking drivers try to conceal such facts in case of an accident, and an unknown number succeed; second, a considerable proportion of other violations such as reckless driving, which are directly blamed for certain accidents, would not be committed if the driver were fully sober and his judgment clear.

Summary: Of our annual traffic toll of 32,000 to 33,000 deaths, 44 per cent result from acts of folly by motorists or pedestrians, 15 per cent result from bad driving manners, and at least 15 per cent from liquor. Total: 74 per cent.

SNEEZER:

150,000 Times

Michael Hippisley had sneezed 150,000 times and was still sneezing. London doctors sought frantically to bring some relief to the 14-year old schoolboy who had sneezed once every three seconds for nine days.

THE only time the boy hadn't sneezed in the nine days was when he was knocked out by drugs or sleeping.

"I've had kerosene up my nose, drops down my ears and hundreds of tablets," Michael told reporters. "Then they cauterized me. I couldn't feel anything any more, but I kept on sneezing."

When news of Michael's plight got about, some 50 callers offered sympathy and advice. One suggested hypnotism. Another said sneeze in a paper sack. Unfortunately, all remedies had been tried.

SCIENCE, making great strides with allergy controls and remedies seemed stymied on this case.

The Hippisley family doctor said that's what he thought it was—the constant "aa-chooing" was due to Michael's "abnormal sensitivity to pollen dust."

Cheats Death

Flashing a smile of victory over death, Reid C. Lewis, is shown in hospital at Santa Monica, Calif. His heart stopped after a minor operation and remained stopped, as did breathing and pulsebeat, for 12 minutes. His doctor, remembering an old Boy Scout trick which sometimes revives drowned persons by breaking a bone, snapped one of Lewis' ribs and the shock restored him to life.

PARKING:

No, Thanks

In a nation where parking space is at a premium, parkers were shunning a Great Bend, Kas., parking lot in great numbers.

Joseph Nolan, a short-time parking lot operator is authority for the reaction. Nolan opened his lot in the heart of the downtown district. In eight days his gross income was only and exactly $1.20. He tried every device he knew, even "free parking." Still they stayed away.

TROOPERS CATCH TARTAR

Wild West Showman Defies Georgia Law

Many a man has had a hankering to do just what Col. Zach Miller did when he ran afoul of state police on a speeding and driving without a license charge. It happened in Georgia where the colonel and his driver, James Colbert, were riding the range at 75 miles per hour. The limit is 55. Colbert, it seems had no license.

Two troopers hauled in Colonel Miller, 71-year old Texan and boss of the 101 Ranch Wild West Show, for permitting use of his panel truck by an unlicensed operator.

Colonel Miller refused to stand trial. In lurid language he declared he'd "rot in jail," before he paid a dime.

The sheriff explained further: "Miller refused to stand trial."

Oldest R. F. D. Carrier In America

The R. F. D. mail carrier — a real symbol of rural America — will be represented on this week's R. F. D. AMERICA program by a man who has been getting the mail through to the farm families on his route since 1900 — the longest period of service by any rural mail carrier in the entire country!

He is Irving G. Clark, of South Lyon, Michigan, and he comes to R. F. D. AMERICA this Saturday, May 21 (1:30 Eastern Time over NBC), to compete on the rural board of experts.

First appointed September 1, 1900, to a little country post office in Rushton, Michigan (named after his father, who was postmaster there 49 years) Clark was transferred to his present post at South Lyon when the Rushton office was discontinued in 1935.

It's smooth sailing, delivering country mail today, as compared to the early days, reminisces Clark, thinking of the horse and covered wagon he drove over bad roads in all sorts of weather. The automobile was a real boon to his trade — his first one was a one cylinder Brush.!

Brakes and Lights Checking Program Ends Sixth Week

Chief Harry Simmons today announced the results of the first six weeks of the accident prevention program aimed at reducing accident due to vehicles being driven in an unsafe condition. He stated that 79 of traffic violators had been stopped and that checks by his men had turned up 16 cars with faulty brakes, and 60 with defective lights.

State-wide figures show 94,101 violators stopped, 6,942 cars with bad brakes, 22,533 with defective lights, and 5,957 with other defects, according to records received by the Michigan State Safety Commission.

Chief Harry Simmons called upon all motorists who have not yet had their cars checked during the last six weeks to take their cars to their regular service men for a thorough check up. He emphasized the fact that the success of this accident prevention program depends very largely upon the cooperation of the public.

Wrote the teacher on the blackboard: "I didn't have no fun at the seaside."

"How can I correct that, Johnny," she asked.

"Get a boy friend," responded Johnny.

Behold The Man!

Lesson for June 5, 1949

LAST JANUARY a man in Holland wrote to the high court of the new nation of Israel, petitioning for a review, now nearly 2,000 years afterwards, of the trial of Jesus by the court at Jerusalem in the year 30 A. D. That court may never review the case, and perhaps has no legal right to do so. But history has reviewed it, and reversed it. Jesus was tried by at least four tribunals on the early morning of the first Good Friday. But the verdict of history is that the courts were guilty, one and all, while the prisoner was innocent.

Sentence first,
Verdict afterwards

BESIDES the informal hearing before the ex-high priest Annias, there was the formal trial before the High Priest Caiaphas. He presided over the Sanhedrin, the supreme court of the Jews at that time. It was a learned tribunal, venerated all over the Jewish world. As the lawyers might say, its writ ran everywhere; its decisions were quoted as precedent in Alexandria, Babylon, Spain. You might have expected it to be dignified, honorable. But not on that night, with that victim.

You might as well expect a pack of wolves, starved in midwinter, to be dignified and honorable with a sheep in their circle. These men, and their intimate friends, had been described by the Prisoner, not long before, in words that stuck in their brains like arrowheads. "Whited sepulchres . . . full of all uncleanness . . . ye say, and do not . . . yet devour widows' houses . . . blind guides . . . offspring of vipers. . ."

If there had been any hope that they might change, Jesus would not have used such words. So they had made up their minds: He must die. Now was their hour, while the city slept. Leader of the pack was this Caiaphas. As the farce of a trial went on and the high priest by grace of Rome faced Jesus, High Priest by the grace of God, what did he see in Jesus' eyes?

That Fox

IF CAIPHAS was a wolf, Herod was a fox. It was Jesus' nickname for him. On that April morning this fox had the surprise of his lifetime. Before he could collect his wits, he was facing the very man whom his private police force had been vainly trying to arrest—Jesus of Nazareth. Two kings faced each other in Herod's hall that morning. The one wearing a robe and crown, seated on some kind of throne, was one of the most un-kingly men who ever bore the royal title. The other, in plainest citizens' clothes, and no crown, no throne to be seen, was the one real king who has lived among men.

"Suffered Under Pontius Pilate"

PONTIUS PILATE, procurator of Judea, deputy plenipotentiary of his Imperial Majesty, sat on his judgment seat and looked at Jesus. Six times he had looked at him; six times he had made certain that this young prisoner was an innocent man, and six times he had said so, even in the face of the mob.

The noises in the street confused him. He could not hear, down through the centuries, the voices of millions of men, women and children, rising up week after week and repeating the words, almost like a curse: "—and in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord, who suffered under Pontius Pilate." The voices in the street drowned the voices of the centuries.

But if, as Pontius Pilate turned Jesus over to the will of those who hated him, he had dared to look into Jesus' eyes, and what would he have seen?

To this very day, and to the end of time, in all places and among all men; this Christ whom the world holds in chains is yet the Judge of every man. Men may say of Jesus what they wish, and he will be silent still. But in his eyes in the verdict. A man is judged by his own judgement of Jesus Christ. And you, too. Facing you, he looks straight through you. What do you see in Jesus' eyes?

Overhauling of the Michigan tax structure, whereby state and local governments get money to pay for services performed, is proposed by the Michigan Public Expenditure Survey. This group is financed by large taxpayers. Its general interest is economy in government.

The legislature woundup its 1949 general session last weekend at Lansing.

The tug-of-war between Governor G. Mennen Williams, advocate of a corporation tax to raise $50 to $60 millions, and the Republican-dominated legislature ended in a draw. Williams didn't get his tax on corporation profits, and the legislature avoided the distasteful issue of imposing a new levy. Even a suggested boost in the state gasoline tax was shelved.

How much the deficit will be, after the legislature's efforts to economize have been carefully appraised, was yet to be estimated at time of adjournment. The state sales tax is already producing less each month, as a decline in prices brings a decline in tax revenue. And the fact still remains the 67 percent of all the money the state collects — even though it is less than heretofore — must be returned to local governments under constitutional mandates and legislative earmarking.

And so we find ourselves on May 20 right at the point where we came in — last January. The predicted deficit is on the way. Something still must be done. What is it going to be?

The Michigan Public Expenditure Survey, in a current bulletin, sizes up the problem as follows:

"In his tax message, the Governor said: 'Our patch-work tax structure is badly in need of a general revision'. He did not, however, recommend such a revision at present — on the ground that 'time is too short if we are to avoid a financial crisis'.

"Again we may ask: 'Why? Is it ever too early to start overhauling a program which admittedly is bad, and sadly in need of basic revision?'

"This question of solving the complex problem of state and local finances is not new. Far from it! Within the past five years, many different plans have been suggested to give local units, as well as the state, a 'fair deal' in the matter of revenues. Among 1949 proposals are the following: "Set up a system under which a certain percentage of the taxpayer's income is designated for taxes — all taxes. That percentage would split up among the various governmental units.

"Substitute a straight 1.5 percent income tax for the sales tax; cut out all diversion, and let local governments finance own needs through excise taxes.

"Repeal the 3 percent sales and use taxes, and substitute a 1 percent use tax for state purposes only — leaving local units to levy their own taxes for their own expenses.

"Repeal the state sales tax; do away with state participation in local welfare costs, and state aid to schools except as provided in the state constitution. Allow counties to levy a maximum 3 percent sales tax for local distribution.'

Someone once said, "You can't have your cake and eat it, too."

Michigan taxpayers paid a total of $2.8 billion in taxes for the 1947-48 fiscal year (ending July 1). Of this amount $343.2 million was collected by the state; $247.2 million by local governments, and the remainder by the federal government.

Less taxation can come only through a reduction in public services. More public services can lead only to more taxes.

What are we going to do about it? The proposed study of the entire tax problem appears to have timely merit.

Leave Fawns Alone

Now it the time that the doe deer are giving birth to their fawns, and again we would like to warn those who observe one of the many thousands of these precious little Bambino's that are born each year not to disturb them or pick them up as they are not lost or deserted, and in all probability their mothers are within hearing distance.

It is also a violation of the law to disturb or pick them up and those who do so will be vigorously prosecuted.

CHILDREN REVEAL GROWTH IN PLAY

When little Suzy scolds her dolly and threatens her with punishment, Suzy is not just playing, she is imitating the way she is diciplined.

Children's play is more than a pastime, it is serious business to them and they will tell you a great deal about themselves while they play. If you take the time to watch and listen you can learn much about your children.

Bernice Borgman who is in charge of the nursery school at Michigan State College warns against drawing sweeping conclusions about a child's feelings from his behavior at play. About one- fourth of his play has deeper meanings about his feelings and the rest of his time he is reflecting what he sees and hears.

A child who plays unfairly may be reflecting his feeling of having been treated so by others. Undercurrents of jealousy maye be seen which in real life are not shown. Children cannot always tell you what is going on inside their heads but they may show you in their play.

In the scoldings which Suzy passes on to her dolls or animals you may hear the same words and tone of voice that you once used in scolding Suzy. Be alert and you can learn much about your child's growth as he plays.

LISTS PRACTICAL CANNING RULES

Grandmother canned everything in sight and saved money — can you do the same? Do you know that your canning efforts save you money — or do you guess they do?

Suggestions for practical canning comes from Roberta Hershey, extension foods specialist at Michigan State College. She considers all angles and does some practical arithmetic when deciding whether to can.

Records show that it costs at least five or six cents a jar to can most products. Higher than average fuel costs may make the canning cost even higher. Then there's the cost of the product to be canned to consider, particularly if you have to buy it. Of course surplus garden products that would be wasted otherwise present a different situation.

Another consideration for canning is storage place for those beautiful jars of fruit and vegetables. If you haven't a good cold, dry place to store them they won't be nearly so tempting next winter and are much more likely to spoil.

Proper equipment for canning is a very important part to consider because it is necessary in processing foods that will keep. For fruits and tomatoes a large container that will work as a hot water bath is ideal. It should be deep enough so that the jars placed in it in a rack will be at least two inches under the top of the water.

All vegetables need to be canned in a pressure pan. To destroy all spoilage germs, foods need to be processed longer in a small saucepan than in a large pressure cooker. Oven canning is very dangerous and very undependable.

A school kid, whose first love was baseball, was writing the answers to a test in physiology. He wrote:

"You're legs is what if you ain't got two pretty good ones you can't get to first base and neither can your sister."

Sanitation Needed In Newcastle Check

No experience is by far the best experience with Newcastle disease, the troublesome poultry ill, says Dr. H. J. Stafseth, head of the department of bacteriology and public health at Michigan State College.

He advises that poultrymen block off as completely as possible every channel by which the virsus can get to a healthy flock. Experience has shown that the disease can be spread both directly and indirectly. The virsus is long lived and durable.

A check list of channels to watch is listed by Dr. Stafseth.

1. Visitors and buyers: The virus can be carried on shoes, clothing, crates and trucks. Keep visitors out, tell the poultry buyer to stop in the road. Carry out birds and eggs, sell them away from the yard.

2. Shipment of exposed birds should be avoided.

3. Require dealers to sell feed in new bags or show that they are reusing old bage only after thorough steam sterilization.

4. Crates returned from market should be thoroughly sterilized before they are allowed on the premises.

5. New stock should be added only after a quartine period of several weeks to insure that they are free from disease.

6. Avoid bringing birds back to the flock after they have been exhibited at fairs, shows, and laying contests.

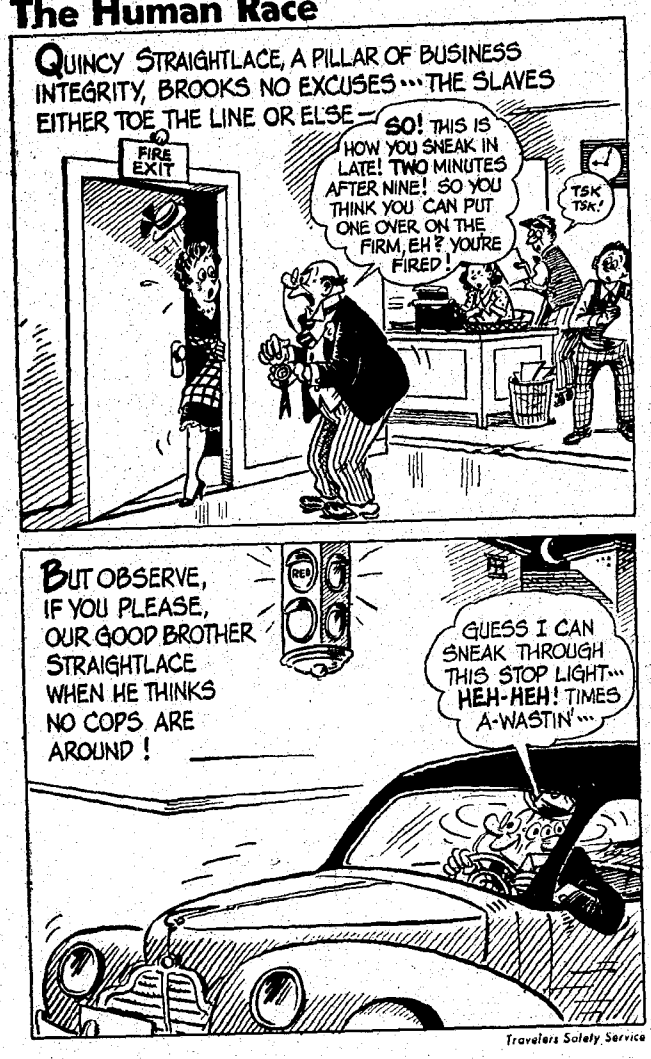

7. Buy from hatcheries that apply rigid sanitary control.

8. Attend to prompt disposal of all birds dying from any cause by deep burial or burning.

These precautions are in line with good management. Dr. Stafseth advises, and are doubly important due to Newcastle disease.
